NEWS RECORD. FERGUS. FRIDAY AUGUST 23RD 1867

STORM DATE SUNDAY AUGUST 18TH

DESTRUCTIVE HURRICANE

The summer of 1867 will be noted, in this locality at least, for its sudden and violent storms. That of Sunday last is the third destructive hurricane and rain storm which has visited us within three months, and within a radius of 8 miles from our village. The memorable one of the 7Th JUNE, was undoubtedly the severest and most destructive ever experienced in this neighborhood. Just two months afterwards on the 7TH AUGUST another storm of briefer duration, less destructive, and less widely extended, burst over the same locality, the village of DOUGLAS. And now it has become our duty to record the occurrence of a third whose ravages were immence, but confined to a comparitively limited area, the neighborhood of the village of CUMNOCK five miles north of FERGUS. The morning of Sunday last, it will be remembered, was clear and sultry, the afternoon cloudy with strong gusts of wind,and towards evening a cloud of almost inky blackness was observed rolling up from the west, and this it was that burst in a perfect torrent of rain over the locality above named. At the same instant the fearful wind, nothing less than a TORNADO, struck about the north boundary of NICHOL, sweeping in an easterly direction and expending its force almost before reaching the GARAFRAXA line. In its destructive path it levelled fences, wheat fields, unroofed barns, tore up the largest trees, and threw down the walls of the brick church being erected for the Rev Mr. Davidson's congregation. The walls were almost completed when the storm came and now only three corners are standing. The direct loss to the congregation is estimated at 300 dollars. The barns of messrs MUIR, GLEN, CADENHEAD, ROSS and others were more or less injured, in fact scarcely a building escaped without injury.

Killing hail

DAILY GLOBE, TORONTO. FRIDAY AUGUST 30TH. 1867.

(FROM THE PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER.)

STORM DATE. ABOUT 8P.M., SUN. AUG. ~~2~~ 18TH.? 1867.

A HURRICANE.

A fearful hurricane swept over the TOWNSHIP of SMITH, part of DOURO, and OTONABEE, on Sunday evening, commencing about 8 o'clock. The winds were such that barns, trees, etc., were swept away like dust. It was also accompanied by the crops, fruit trees, and dwellings. turnips, oats, and spring wheat are literally cut up, and glass, wherever exposed, was dashed to pieces. The hail, we are informed, was like pieces of ice broken up, some of the lumps being 2½x2 inches in size. Very fortunately the storm took a narrow range of one or two miles in breadth; as it is, it has caused immense damage and loss. Since writing the above we have been told that some pieces of the ice would not go into a fair sized tea cup, and that several sheep were killed during the storm. PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER.
