MINIATURE CYCLONE, NEW BRUNSWICK.

THE GLOBE, TORONTO, MONDAY JULY 9TH. 1934.

STORM DATE. P.M., SAT. JULY 7TH. 1934.

MINIATURE CYCLONE WREAKS HAVOC THROUGH NEW BRUNSWICK AND MAINE.

(Canadian Press Despatch).

ST. STEPHEN, N.B., JULY 8. Wind accompanied by heavy rain, thunder and lightning attained near-hurricane proportions in this district during a severe half-hour storm yesterday afternoon. Uprooted and broken trees, together with loss of power and lumber constituted the chief toll here and in neighboring NEW BRUNSWICK and MAINE towns. Streets here became streams under an intensive downpour, and open spaces looked like small lakes. The electric-light plant at ST. STEPHEN went out of commision for several hours. About 8,000 feet of lumber from HALEY'S MILL were lost, some being blown into the ST. CROIX RIVER, and many other boards were broken into bits. Large trees, feature of ST. STEPHEN scenery were either uprooted or blowed down as if they had been bushes. Nine huge trees fell, and scarcely a street escaped some destruction in this respect. One tree blown against D. GANONG'S house, tore away part of the building. In another case a door was blown from its hinges. Telephone and electric-light poles also fell victim to the fierce wind. One barn was unroofed. Boards were carried fully 500 feet across the HALEY LUMBERYARD. Some went high enough to land on the roof of a nearby house. The ST. STEPHEN CEMETERY was hard hit, trees having blown against the tombstones and flower beds having been destroyed.
