 Disaster aid is set **
 for*Alberta*farmers **

EDMONTON (CP) - The Alberta Government has come up with $1.2-million in disaster aid for people caught in the path of a tornado that ripped across central Alberta June 29. More than 200 claims have been filed with Alberta Disaster Services, a news release from the Department of Municipal Affairs said yesterday.

The provincial Cabinet approved the spending in a special warrant this week. Payments to individuals in four counties and two municipal districts north of Edmonton will begin in one or two weeks.

Special warrants are Cabinet approvals for spending not authorized in the annual provincial budget. Individual claims were filed in the counties of Athabasca, Parkland, Lac Ste. Anne and Thorhild, as well as the municipal districts of Sturgeon and Westlock.
