Southern Manitoba bails out after spectacular thunderstorm

By Dave Roberts

Thousands of Manitobans spent yesterday drying out following a spectacular weekend thunderstorm that may have dumped a record rainfall in the southern half of the province.

Environment Canada spokesman Ron Carman said yesterday that between 8 p.m. Saturday and 1 a.m. yesterday, 61.2 millimetres of rain fell in Winnipeg, possibly a record.

"We're still trying to determine if it's a record — it sure was coming down," said Carman. "I've never seen anything like it."

Bissett, northeast of Winnipeg, was the hardest hit, getting 97 millimetres of rain in the 24 hours after 7 a.m. Saturday.

Carman said the thunderstorm was not considered severe, since no serious damage was reported.

"Flooded basements aren't really a big deal," he said.

But Heinrech Albrecht, of 743 Herbert Avenue, disagreed.

Albrecht estimated damage to his basement rec room at between $5,000 and $6,000 when his sewer backed up about 11 p.m. Saturday.

Albrecht and his wife saved a $5,000 organ by taking it up the basement stairs themselves.

He wasn't sure if his insurance would cover his losses.

While most people were straining to get some sleep during the ear-cracking electrical storm, 10-year-old Shawn Thomas was camping at Birds Hill Park and couldn't stay awake.

Thomas was one of about 200 Cubs and Brownies out for a weekend of camping at the provincial park.

As rain pelted the campsite, and lightning split the sky, Thomas, fast asleep, rolled out of his tent and into a river of water.

Watchful camp leaders picked him up, hauled him from his waterlogged sleeping-bag, dumped him into a dry one and put him back in his tent.

"When I woke up the next morning I

Letter from Winnipeg girl gains Gandhi's attention

By Dave Roberts

When 10-year-old Ruby Dhalla wrote to India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi last month, the last thing she expected was a reply.

But on Friday, at a New Delhi news conference, Gandhi told reporters she had received Ruby's letter and a response was in the

"I felt sad because I have friends and aunts and uncles from down there (in the Punjab). I was worried about them. I said they should try to settle this thing. Mrs. Gandhi is very intelligent, she's the leader of India."

She said recent letters from relatives in that strife-torn part of the noticed I was in a different sleeping bag," Thomas said. "I guess I slept through the whole thing.

The campers who stayed awake said the electrical storm was well worth watching. "It was just like daytime with the lightning," said Brent Coreau, 9. "It was neat."

"I think we made out pretty well," said camp chief Art MacKay. "They slept through most of it. But it sure did rain."

City police said the storm may have been partly responsible for a serious traffic accident which sent a man to hospital with a broken neck.

Gerry Bartlett, 47, stepped into traffic from the centre boulevard of Portage Avenue near Canora Street during the storm's height at about 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

Bartlett is in serious condition at the Health Sciences Centre with a broken neck and internal injuries.

Carman said Saturday's storm was the result of an unsettled air mass which stalled and then grew in an area southwest of the city during the afternoon. He said a weather warning was issued for Winnipeg and region at 5:20 p.m. Saturday.

Damage to crops

The thunderstorm was related to a hailstorm that hit western Manitoba Friday night. The hailstorm caused extensive damage to some crops.

In Winnipeg, high winds stripped trees and the rains flooded many basements.

Pat Brunwin, of 15 Derwood Place in Charleswood said her entire street was flooded and she was concerned for the safety of youngsters who were trying to play in the giant pool.

Sturgeon Creek was off-limits to children yesterday as well.

Carman said winds in some areas were probably much stronger than the 48 km/h ones recorded at Winnipeg International Airport.

One $3,000 house fire at 174 Perth Avenue may have been the result of a lightning bolt, said officials, who are still investigating.

Meanwhile, farmers are still trying to recover after Friday's storm brought large hail stones to areas near Brandon.

Rooftops were pelted and gardens destroyed in the Justice, Forest, Hillside and Douglas areas.

On Saturday, farmer David Mazier was examining his wheat crop which lay flattened in the mud, pounded by the previous night's hail.

"It was looking pretty good," Mazier said of his crop. "It doesn't look so good now."

Manitoba Hydro spokesman Verne Prior said isolated power failures were reported, but the weekend storm was not as bad as some.

Customers in the Norwood Flats area of St. Boniface were without power for 10 to 12 hours. Service was restored to most customers yesterday, he said.

Manitoba Telephone System spokesman Glenn Schneider said flooding of underground telephone cables between trunk lines and switching offices caused problems for some customers.

About 1,000 city residents were still without phone service yesterday afternoon, Schneider said.

Girl sends Gandhi letter of concern

"I wrote to her sometime in May, I think the 28th. I addressed it to Mrs. Indira Gandhi, Prime Minister, New Delhi, India. I labelled it Personal.

"I never expected to hear back. I feel a little better now.

"I think she (Gandhi) knows where Winnipeg is," Ruby said. "And she knows there are a lot of Sikhs who live here who are worried about their families back home."

Ruby said she doesn't know what Gandhi's reply will contain. "It should be here this week," she said.

Ruby's father Nick said he was "very proud for Winnipeg and Manitoba. I'm very proud of Ruby as well. She's a very intelligent girl."

He said he and his wife Tavinder came to Winnipeg 13 years ago and Ruby and her younger brother Neil were born here.

Gandhi told reporters at the Friday news conference that a recent army attack against a Sikh holy place in Amritsar was not aimed at Sikhs.

"It was not used against the Golden Temple; it was not used against the Sikh religion," she said. "It was used to take out terrorists indulging in murder, arson and looting."

Sikhs abroad last week proclaimed a Sikh republic of Khalistan with headquarters in London and a cabinet in exile containing Sikhs living in Canada, Britain and West Germany.

Gandhi appealed to foreign governments, in a recorded interview carried by the CBC, BBC and Australian radio, not to aid Sikh separatist groups in their countries.

"I only hope that the governments outside will not help these movements in their countries," she said.
