MINIATURE CYCLONE, THOROLD, ONTARIO.

THE GLOBE AND MAIL, TORONTO, WEDNESDAY AUGUST 25TH. 1954.

STORM DATE. "EARLY AFTERNOON" TUES. AUG. 24TH. 1954.

A miniature cyclone struck the MOUNTAIN ROAD area three miles south of THOROLD early this afternoon, knocked over a steell silo on the farm of M. H. BROWN and carried it 100 feet.

A frame shed used for storing implements was blown down. A threshing machine, standing in the yard, was rolled over twice by the high wind.

MR. BROWN said: "There was a terrific wind for a few minutes which carried the silo one way and its roof another. It also picked up lawn chairs and carried them about 150 feet. Its the first time in my life, and I've lived here for 68 years, that we ever had any damage from the wind. Fortunately no one was injured."
